"Mid the dark rocks that watch his bed, Giltters the mighty Hudson, spread, Unrippied, save by drops that fall From shrubs that finger his mountain wall,"

Dobb's Ferry, the scene of the romantic story, styled "The Legend of Dobb's Ferry," and an important place well known in Revolutionary history, is a picturesque village on the east side, and a few miles further up is Irvington, named in honor of Wasington Irving. Glimpses IRVING'S SUNNY SIDE cottage can be seen among the trees. To use Irving's own description of "Wolfert's Roost," the former name of "Sunnyside;" it is made up of gable ends, and as full of angles and corners as an old cocked hat. "Sunny Side" is said, in fact, to have been modeled after the cocked hat of Peter the Headstrong, as the Escurial of Spain was modeled after the gridiron of the blessed St. Laurence.

The passing glimpse of lrving's home is almost an aggravation, so strong is the desire to see more. The very atmosphere seems impregnated with the spirit of the great American writer, the inimitable humorist, the accomplished scholar, the genial and courteous gentleman, the poetic and fantastic magician, who imbued all nature with romance and peopled every mountain, dale and nook with original creations which have become to us actual living creatures.

Tarrytown, celebrated in history as the place where the unfortunate Major Andre was captured during the Revolution ie said to derive its name from the Dutch husbands tarrying in the village savern. The whole place is associated with the 'Legends of Sleepy Hollow' and is rich with the traditions of the immortal Diedrick Kaickerbocker.

The Gintter Reunion.

On Thursday, June 15, at the Fair Grounds, this city, occurred a happy re-union of one of the oldest and best known families in the state, the Ginter family. One hundred and fifty persons participat. ed in this important affair, including rel-atives and friends from this city, Akron, Massilion, Orrville, Middlebranch, Hartville and other places. All enjoyed a day of recreation in the meeting of old friends and relatives, and especially the magnificent dinner which was spread out before them. All went along smoothly until a young man from Akron, who had been missing for some time, was found a half an hour later lying unconscious. Near him was a brick, and marks on his head showed that he had been hit with it. How the accident occurred is not known. This somewhat dampened the enjoyment of the day. However, it is safe to say that none present will soon forget this reun-ion. May they ail live to see many more.

FRANK MILLER ARRANGES FOR A WED-DING WITH UNDUE HASTE, and Now it Won't Come Off-Judge Mo-Carty Questions the Young Man and Spoils His Plans by Refusing to Grant a Divorce From His First Wife.

There is at least one wedding that was booked to come off this week, that will be necessarily indefinitely postponed. The prospective groom was one Frank Miller, but Frank ran up against the law in Judge McCarty's court this morning and now the game is up. The young man has one wife, Barbara Miller, but affairs did not run smoothly and so a few months ago he went into common pleas court with a petition for divorce. The trial was held this morning before Judge McCarty, and Miller left the court house much wiser and much sadder than when he came. He had a good case and he showed plenty of read and sought Mr. Berry, who there ran an employment agency for work.

Mr. Berry by kind treatment gained the fellow's confidence, and he confided to him that he was a criminal and had murdered the Bordens up at New Bedford for revenge, also that he was a sailor. This sustains the theory that the murder was committed by a sailor for some wrong inflicted on his father by Mr. Borden many years ago.

The stranger wanted to give himself up and finally disappeared. Mr. Berry gave the matter no attention until he read in a local paper a dispatch from a good case and he showed plenty of ground why he should have a divorce from his wife, but before granting the decree the judge began to question the young man.

It is a sturdy principle of common law which Judge McCarty is applying with commendable vigor, that persons applying to the court for relief must themselves come with clean hands. In order to see what had been Miller's attitude the judge said:

"Mr. Miller if I grant you this divorce do you expect to marry again?"

"Yes," replied the witness, "I am thinking of it." man.

TAX PAYERS

Crawling All Over Each Other -The Time Extended July 5.

All day today the court house has been crowded with an eager crowd of swelter-ing citizens, all anxious to get up to the window in the treasurer's office and lay their hard earned dollars on the altar of taxation. Tax paying at best is not one of the things over which men throw up their hats in enthusiastic exuitation but this year it is almost enough to drive a man to drink. The general stringency in the money market has made it hard work for the citizens to graph up ready work for the citizens to scrape up ready cash sufficient to pay the county's claims, and then with all this, to be compelled to push and crowd into an unpleasant odor-iferous little tax office and suffer and swelter in the jam for a couple of hours in an endeavor to get to the window and be waited upon, is almost beyond the bounds of patience. The county commissioners have sought to relieve the situation as much as possible and on Saturday they passed a resolution extending the time for tax paying from June 21 to July 5. This should give all hands a chance and those who fail to come up by the latter date will be called upon to pay a penalty.

A Young Woman Found Dead in Bed at Alliance.

Maggie Saltzman, an Alliance girl, was found dead in bed early Sunday morning. The sleeping chamber was filled with gas and to this escaping fluid is attributed her death.

Maggie Saltzman was twenty-three years of age. She had been a nurse at the Russell house for several years and had proven herself a valuable nurse to patrons of the house and was much thought of by Landlord J. M. Akers. Maggie worked hard all Saturday and about half past 10 o'clock in the evening when Akers was summoned to Maggie's room by a bousemaid who said she couldn't awaken the girl. When her room was entered the girl was found dead n bed and the atmosphere smelled strong. of gas. Attempts were made to restore her but they were of no avail. Coroner Conklin was called over and he held an in quest. The only plausible theory is that Maggie went to her room and lit a match to ignite the gas. It failed to burn at once and she probably failed to turn it shut again. She went to sleep and never awake. Her remains will be sent to Crestline for burial.

A Decision of Judge McCarty Fails to Please Either Plaintiff or Defendant.

Judge McCarty this morning rendered his decision in the case of Anna B. Numan vs her minor son Howard Numan. The decision is one in which each side comes out about even. The plaintiff sued for the annulling of a note for $2,500 which she gave to her two children, in her prosperous days, to be paid when they arrived at maturity. One of the children has since died and the court held that thus one por-tion should revert back to the donor but that the other half should remain in force. The plaint if is assessed the cost. Both sides gave notice of appeal.

The Best Remedy III in this world., says J. Hoffberr, of Syracuse, N. Y., is Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic, because my son, who was partially paralyzed three years ago and attacked by fits, has not had any symptoms of them since he took one hottle of the remedy. I most heartly thank for it.

the remedy. I most heartily thank for it.

Thank Haurs, ind., Oct. 17, 1800.

Some time and a sunstroke so affected my nerves that at times they were beyond control; eyes were dull and without expression, and a twitching of the muscles of the isce and almost continual movement of the hands and arms, especially the left side. There was impediant of speech, and at times would be so overcome with dizziness as to be unable to stand. Heard of Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic; tried one bottle, and noticed a great change; tried another, and now can say that I am enjoying perfect he tith, steady nerves and a good appetite, which I had lost entirely before using your medicine.
